Carmel Pine Cone

Saturday, January 16, 1926.

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIFORNIA

Vol. XI, No. 50.

Work Started on New Pine Inn

On or about June 1st Pine Inn, Carmel's oldest hostelry, will have 125 rooms with bath available to guests. This is indicated by the clearing of ground and the tearing down of the old section of the Inn on the west side which Contractor M. J. Murphy's men are now engaged in.

The newly built section, of Spanish-California type, contemplates the addition of twenty-five rooms and the complete remodeling of the dining room. With the new unit, fifty rooms in the remaining three-story old section and the many attractive cottages near the main building, John B. Jordan, the proprietor of the Inn, will be well prepared to accommodate his guests.

John B. Jordan
Proprietor of Pine Inn

The cost of the present improvements will be approximately $30,000. In accordance with plans already drawn, the entire main structure will be completely rebuilt eventually.

THE LIGHTS THAT FAILED

Trouble which mysteriously caused interruptions to electric service in the Carmel district at about the same time every evening recently, and which defeated all efforts of Coast Valleys Gas and Electric Company employees to locate it, was finally traced down to a defective relay in the Monterey substation. This was repaired as soon as discovered, and the Coast Valleys management states that no further repetition of these interruptions is to be expected.

Coming Events

Friday and Saturday, Jan. 15-16—"The Bad Man," Arts and Crafts Theater.

Friday and Saturday, Jan 22 and 23—"Chimes of Normandy," under auspices of Monterey Lodge, B.P.O.E. Golden Boug.

Feb. 19 to 22—"Dulcy," Golden Boug. Players.

Manzanita Theatre—Motion pictures every night, 7:00 and 9:00 o'clock.

Superior Judge Fred A. Treat has issued his list of names of citizens residing in all sections of the county from which will be selected the Monterey county grand jury for 1926. The Carmelites who may be selected include William T. Kibbler, Kathryn J. Overstreet, Harry Leon Wilson, John B. Jordan and Ray C. Deyoe.

We'll All Go to the Opera Next Week

In this day of Jazz, the Charleston, and occasional poor movies, a refreshing entertainment will be afforded at the Golden Boug Theatre Friday and Saturday of next week, when John R. Pavilla, under the auspices of the Monterey Peninsula Lodge of Elks, puts on the old-time comic opera, "The Bells of Corneville."

Those who enjoyed Fenton Foster's production of "The Mikado" in the Forest Theater last summer will realize what is in store for them, especially in that John R. Pavilla, who played Ko-Ko in the open-air production is slated to play Gaspard, the Miser, in the coming opera.

The opera is a veritable festival of song hits—the kind that you will hum and whistle for a long time.

Special scenery has been built and painted and a splendid orchestra has been organized and trained.

The cast is as follows:

Serpentine, the Good-for-Nothing	Gladys Scholes
Madeline Hawkins
Germaine, the lost Marchioness	Marion Hawley
Village Maidens:
Gertrude
Jeanne	Alice Scholes
Manette	Alpha Roland
A Sailor	Idras Parker
Henri, Marquis de Corneville	Samuel L. Ethridge
Jean Grenicheux, a Fisherman	Robert Harkins
Gaspard, a Miser	John R. Pavilla
The Bailli	J. Clague
Registrar	Stuart Work
Assessor	Tom Jones
Notary	Basil Pavilla

This organization,—director, cast, chorus and orchestra,—will be available for future comic opera production.

Two full houses should be on hand for this show. The receipts will go toward swelling the charity fund of the Monterey Lodge of Elks, whose membership is made up of Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove and Del Monte residents.

MARRIAGE FEES ENRICH COUNTY

According to the records of County Clerk Tom Joy, 1925 was a "prosperous" year, at least for the county, in the marriage business. In fact it was a better year than 1924.

During 1925, "Cupid" Tom issued 436 marriage licenses at two bucks per, while in 1924 the number was 398.

In addition to $872 paid into the county treasury, it is estimated that judges and clergymen received about $3052 from newly-wed couples. This estimate is based on the assumption that the average amount paid by the groom is five dollars.

GOING UP!

Three of the twelve blocks of the Ocean-Carpenter highway have already been concreted and covered with sand by Contractor J. L. Conner. Reversing the usual order, the laying of the concrete was begun at the lowest point, and the work is going up hill instead of down. Inspector W. T. Dummage is on the job to see that the specifications are complied with.

Plans Under Way for School Dedication

The near completion of the new semi-fireproof $50,000 Sunset elementary school building on San Carlos highway between Eighth and Ninth avenues in this city, by Contractors Herndon and Finnigan of Sacramento, draws attention to the exercises, the date of which will be shortly announced, marking the occupancy and ownership of the building.

The program, as tentatively arranged, includes addresses by State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Will C. Wood, County Superintendent James Force and Monterey Superintendent J. H. Graves. Between the addresses there will be musical numbers.

It has been suggested that this year's graduating class and graduating classes of the years that follow plant a class tree.

A special invitation is extended to all the graduates of the school to be present at the exercises.

The very attractive structure is built around three sides of a court, with the main entrance reached by going through the court. Entrances are also provided to the arcade from San Carlos street.

The arrangement of the rooms is unusual but quite convenient for the best handling of pupils passing to and from classes and in case of emergency. The arcade on the highway side is the right angle continuation of the hall that forms the base of the U-shaped building and the opposite side and of the side farthest from the highway.

The five classrooms are excellently lighted. The ceilings are high, eliminating the oppression of low rooms. The roof is of red "master-tile," that blends with the arches to give the whole structure a pleasing atmosphere.

The main doorway is made of Tennessee marble and is beautifully carved. The old English idea is carried out in the arch, as well as the carving, which consists of conventional garlands and a Greek lamp of knowledge on either side of the opening. Above this is a sun dial, the whole beautifully proportioned.

The bracket is of wrought iron, and has the first three letters of the alphabet entwined. From this will hang the sign, Sunset School.

Carmel may well be proud of its new public school building.

OUR POSTAL INCREASE

One of the most interesting records of growth of this city is that furnished by Miss Stella Vincent, Postmaster, concerning the business of her office.

When it is considered that Carmel is off the railroad and that there are no rural or star routes originating here, the figures are remarkable.

The annual business of the office since 1923 shows an increase of about $3000 as the following figures indicate:

1922	$9,026.16
1923	10,343.90
1924	13,084.60
1925	16,358.22

The figures for Monterey and Pacific Grove also show a substantial increase over previous years.

Carmel business licenses, to the number of approximately 160, were due this quarter, nearly all of which have been collected.

"Bad Man" Will Strut the Stage Tonight

The first production of this season's plays at Arts and Crafts Theater, under the direction of George M. Ball, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Johnson, took place last night.

In selecting this play by Porter Emerson Browne for his initial offering, Mr. Ball has made a splendid choice. His faith in the ability of his cast to give an artistic and satisfactory performance was proven last night.

In the selection of the men and women to interpret the various roles, the producer confined himself almost wholly to Carmelites, as the following persons of the play shows:

Gilbert Jones	Ernest Schweninger
Henry Smith	Talbert Josselyn
Lucia Pell	Helen Wilson

George M. Ball
Producer of "The Bad Man"

Morgan Pell	Byington Ford
Jim Gedings	Paul Flanders
Jasper Hardy	Robert W. Ritchie
Angela Hardy	Katharine Cooke
Pancho Lopez (The Bad Man)	Jo Mora
Pedro	George Lewis
Lieutenant	Edward Durham
Cook	Stewart Wolcott

The theater building has been completely renovated from the foyer to the dressing rooms, and was much commented upon by the large audience in attendance last night.

In securing the services of George M. Ball as producing director for this season, the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts is fortunate indeed. Ball has had a thorough practical training in things theatrical, both in amateur and professional spheres. As an actor he has enacted splendidly a variety of difficult roles. Enthusiasm, hard work, an artistic sense and a knowledge of what the public wants will make his season a successful one.

Our two business streets—Dolores street and Ocean avenue—were cleaned up this week. The regular street department workers, under the direction of the Superintendent of Streets, did a good job.

SESQUICENTENNIAL HISTORY SKETCHES

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia June 1, 1926.

THE GRAVE OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Patches of sunlight streaming in through the iron gate of the Christ Church Burying Ground in Philadelphia, reveal a simple inscription on a plain flat slab, the grave of Benjamin Franklin.

It is a lowly grave, a worthy tribute to the unpretentious qualities of the man. It is easily seen from Arch Street, as it is close to the northwest wall of the burying-ground.

During the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, commemorating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of American independence, which will open in Philadelphia on June 1, 1926, millions of visitors will pay silent homage to Franklin, whose share in drawing up the Constitution of the United States was one of the crowning glories of his life work.

The remains of Franklin were interred on April 21, 1790. His body was placed beside that of his wife, "Benjamin and Deborah Franklin, 1790," thus only is his grave marked.

The funeral procession, headed by the clergy of the city, attracted an immense crowd, estimated to have numbered more than 20,000. Minute guns were fired and bells tolled.

Distinguished honors were paid to his memory. Members of Congress resolved to wear mourning for one month. In France, the news of his death was received with expressions of sorrow and respect.

The casual passerby may wonder that no larger and statelier tombstone was left to mark the remains of Franklin. It was the emphatic request of the seer that his grave be marked by but an unadorned small gravestone.

Each year on the birthday of Franklin, members of the "Poor Richard" Club, an organization of advertising men in Philadelphia, place a wreath upon the grave of its patron saint.

the world than the world could have left to the memory of Franklin. Philosopher, scientist, statesman, inventor, educator, philanthropist, that he was, he contributed worthily to the civilization of his times.

Upon the diplomatic stage of the Colonies he played an important role. Matched against the wits of England in the dispute against the Stamp Act, he was supreme.

He was the first to utilize electricity; he was the leader in matters of street paving and fire protection. He was the founder of the American Philosophical Society, the University of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania Hospital. He became president of the Pennsylvania Society for Promoting the Abolition of Slavery.

Rank Health With Three "Rs" Is Plea

By MARIE K. JOHNSON

As an educational subject for children, health should hold equal rank with the three "R's" in the curriculum of public schools. Doctors declare that without a healthy, sturdy body it is impossible for the child to have a healthy, happy mind.

Neglect of childhood defects may result in permanent physical impairment later on. Many childhood ills are traceable directly to malnutrition.

High school students especially need a variety in foods for at this age their growth is rapid. The protein or "building food" should be abundant for high school boys and girls. When they buy their luncheons, high school pupils are apt to display a preference for chocolate sodas, cream puffs and candy. An appetizing luncheon put up at home is much to be preferred to the sort the boy or girl might obtain at the corner store near the school.

Meat is all right for the school luncheon but it should be put up in tempting form. If sliced thin it is more appetizing in sandwiches than if in thick pieces. Beverages or soup may be carried in thermos bottles but the bottles must be carefully washed and aired daily after using.

Milk is recommended for an important place in the boy's or girl's diet because of its proteins, minerals, phosphorus and calcium, necessary for the development of the body and in the case of calcium and phosphorus for the building of bone and teeth. Evaporated milk has come into favor as a health builder for children as well as adults because by removal of 60 per cent of the water it is rendered more than twice as rich in food value as ordinary milk and by a process called homogenizing more digestible than bottled market milk.

Crisp lettuce and celery, carefully washed and dried, may be so wrapped in oil paper that they will be fresh and in good condition at lunch time. Lettuce should not be used in sandwiches for wilted lettuce is almost indigestible.

ART NOTES

RANDALL DAVEY EXHIBIT

Cowboy types, hunters, old ranchers, grizzled old-timers, Mexicans, cowgirls, sober-faced bishops, sweet-faced nuns, flowers, animals, and landscapes of the southwest make up the exhibition of paintings by Randall Davey of Santa Fe, N. M., which is on at the Art Institute, Chicago.

Randall Davey is considered one of the strong painters of the present day. His style shows that while he has responded to the influence of the modern art movement he still retains the vigor and freshness of expression which marked his earlier work. His landscapes are particularly refreshing, beautiful in color and charming in their rendering of the picturesque country of New Mexico. "Winter in New Mexico," showing snow in the high ranges, is particularly interesting for its splendid sweep of perspective. His character portrait of the "Old Cowboy" is a striking piece of character study. The cowgirl, "Betty," a life-size figure resting in a canvas chair, is bright and interesting, with a warm and colorful background.

AMERICAN PAINTER RECEIVES DECORATION

George Elmer Browne, the well-known American painter, has just been decorated by the French Government, having received the medal conferring upon him the title of "Officer of Instruction Publique." It was given in appreciation of his services in strengthening the bond of friendship between France and America through the gospel of his art.

George Elmer Browne was born in Gloucester, Mass., in 1871, and acquired his art education at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and under Le Febvre, Fleury, and at the Academy Julian in Paris. Much of his life during the past twenty years has been spent in France. His painting, "Bait Sellers of Cape Cod" has been purchased by the French Government. His painting "The Port, Douarnenez, Brittany," is owned by the Chicago Art Institute, the gift of the late Frank W. Gunsaulus.

CHAIR IN HISTORY OF ARTS

Yale University announced that the Carnegie Corporation has appropriated $150,000 for the establishment of a professorship in the history of the arts in the Yale School of the Fine Arts.

This gift, the announcement stated, will make possible at Yale advanced instruction in the history of art to supplement and extend elementary by the Art School. Students in Yale work in this subject as now offered College and the School of Fine Arts will have the opportunity to continue their study of the history of art begun in elementary and introductory form and will thus have a broad field of study available. It is further planned that students in the graduate school will have opportunity to conduct research in art subjects.

Dean Everett V. Meeks, of the Yale School of the Fine Arts, in commenting on the significance of this gift said: "The splendid gift of the Carnegie Corporation enables Yale University to take a most important step in rounding out a program of comprehensive instruction in the fine arts.

"The results achieved in the cultural courses in the arts already given in Yale University have shown the wisdom of offering the additional and advanced work now made possible. This is further evidenced by the frequent election of the courses by non-professional students. The Yale undergraduates have shown vividly a development parallel to the general collegiate movement toward the study of fine arts. The fact that more than four hundred undergraduates are taking such courses at Yale is the clearest indication of the timeliness of the gift of the Carnegie Corporation, one which will enable these students to carry on advanced work in a subject which is interesting college men to a constantly greater degree."

PROMINENT WRITERS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. John Oskinson, writers, were the guests of honor in the group of Carmel authors entertained by Miss Caroline Kimball at her home on Carpenter street last Saturday. Mrs. Oskinson is the granddaughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne, the author, and daughter of Julian Hawthorne, his son. She is a brilliant critic and delightful story writer. Mr. Oskinson was associate editor of Collier's before he severed his connection to pursue the writing of fiction. His new novel is "Wild Harvest."

BEAUTY IS DISCOVERED IN UNEXPECTED PLACES BY CAMERA ARTIST

(From the Palo Alto Times)
In its entirety a vast expanse of roofs viewed from an elevation is usually a hideous sight.

A tangle of wires is not considered attractive.

A steam shovel operating over a dump cart would seldom incite an artist to words of praise.

And yet—

Within any great area of ugliness there can be found isolated bits of beauty—beauty of line if nothing more. A camera properly focused onto the right point, excluding the incongruous detail and recording only the single formation or setting in which the artists trained eye has discovered beauty can bring forth something exceedingly worth while to art. A tiny fragment of a dilapidated house treated according to this selective formula, under the right slant of the sun, becomes glorified into something of unique pictorial merit.

This is one of the secrets—the most obvious of them perhaps—underlying the success of the camera work of Johan Hagemeyer of Carmel, whose pictures are now on display in the exhibition room of the public library.

Portraits, landscapes and pictures representing details of structural design are included in the selection of 75 photographs on view there.

In his portrait work Mr. Hagemeyer follows the same formula. Everything non-essential is eliminated. There is but one high-light. And the effect is a marvelous transference of the life quality of the face to the print.

There are 45 portraits in the collection, and 30 pictures dealing with the inanimate. Together they form a group well worth a visit to the gallery's exhibition room.

CARMEL SINGER HEARD IN PALO ALTO

A concert of ultra-modern music was given in Palo Alto last Sunday afternoon by Mrs. Roberta Leitch of Carmel, soprano, with Mrs. J. S. Cone of Carmel, accompanist, and Miss Mabel Marble of Palo Alto, pianist.

A. W. Kimball of the Palo Alto Times, says:

Miss Marble is not only a capable pianist, but an interpreter of exceptional intelligence. She played two groups ranging from two delicate Chopin mazurkas, through Paderewski "Melodie," a brilliant Brahms number, to a group of four ultra-modern impressionistic compositions by Walter Nieman. This entire group constituted a performance full of charm and color, both on the part of composer and interpreter.

"Mrs. Leitch's group was equally modern, being a series of three Vignettes of Italy by Winter Watts. These songs are perhaps too subtle to be fully grasped at first hearing, though one could not fail to enjoy the dreamy cadences and reflective quality of the "Addio" with its haunting refrain line reappearing in the harmonious Stresa, nor could one miss the bright contagious gaiety of the "Naples number."

Mrs. Cone's accompaniments were sympathetic, and formed no slight achievement in this group.

"In her concluding group Mrs. Leitch showed much dramatic fervor in her Debussy number, C'est l'Extasse Langoureuse. Spross's Robin Song lacked the rushing lift which Anna Case put into it, so recently, though there was great beauty and flexibility of tone and a lyric quality in this and all her other songs which always gives great pleasure to an audience."

W. L. OVERSTREET, Editor.

THEY REALLY WORK, AND HARD

THE charge so often made, and if not made, presumed, that writers are "a lazy lot," is not borne out by the facts. Says the editor of the Elk's Magazine:

"The life of the writer is not wholly a bed of roses. He enjoys certain privileges, it is true—such as working when he likes and where he likes—but he really does work, make no mistake about that. The popular conception of a writer as a debonair creature who dashes off stories in an hour or so and has nothing to worry about is like a lot of other popular conceptions. Good-stories are seldom dashed off. They grow in the mind of their author, by dint of severe concentration on his part, until they have evolved from the germ-cell into a more or less complete frame-work. Then on paper they evolve further from the skeleton stage into the complete story, covered with flesh and clothes over the bony structure. And after the clothing process comes the period of remodeling and trimming, cutting here and adding there, putting in color and atmosphere and, to carry on an already sadly mixed metaphor, the infusion of blood and the breath of life into the creation. All this involves work, very hard work, done in solitude. And the harder the writer has worked, as a rule, the less the story seems like the product of intense effort."

"Next time you come across a story that is so smooth and easy to read that you feel that it must have been dashed off in no time, reflect that its smoothness is probably the result of tremendous labor, patience and craftsmanship. Stories dashed off by their authors are usually dashed out by magazine editors."

ADMINISTRATION IS FOR ENFORCEMENT

THERE can be no mistaking the attitude of the Administration as regards prohibition. It is for enforcement; absolute and uncompromising. The question of wet states and dry states and the political value of the same has been entirely eliminated from consideration. The sober minded in Washington who have given attention to this matter believe that the question runs far beyond the observance or non-observance of a specific law; that what is being fought out in America is the question of the integrity of all laws.

Senator William M. Butler, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, voiced this thought recently in a speech in which he declared that:

"The real prize at stake was respect for law and order. We can not afford," he said, "to allow the impression to grow up in the minds of the people that it is within the province of each citizen to pick and choose the laws which he will observe and those which he can disregard. The general adoption of such a thought will simply make for destruction even of our Republic. When a law is enacted, the right of a citizen to elect a course of observance or non-observance has ceased, and we cannot make exceptions."

Happily, this most important phase of the question is gaining more and more attention from the people at large.

TRAVELING CONFERENCE SHOWN IN FILM

THE story of a traveling conference, showing how county agricultural agents and leading farmers from their respective counties travel together over selected territory to learn improved farm methods, is shown in a new United States Department of Agriculture four-reel motion picture, "From Ranch to Ranch in California."

The picture was made in cooperation with the University of California. It depicts a tour through the San Joaquin Valley, the upper half of the great central valley of California. It shows glimpses of many phases of agricultural extension work, including crop and animal improvement, home demonstration work, rural cooperation, boys' and girls' club activities, and diversified farming. The film also contains scenes of the campus of the University of California and of the farm at Davis, California, operated by the college of agriculture. The Governor of California, the director of the State department of agriculture, the director of the State agricultural extension service, the president of the State farm-bureau organization, and a representative of the Federal Extension Service take part in the film.

The primary purpose of the film, outside of California, will be to show the method of agricultural extension work involved in a traveling conference, but it is expected to prove of educational value to general audiences in all sections of the country.

SCHOOL ART ON EXHIBITION AT STANFORD

During this month, the Stanford Art Gallery will show a collection of school art work produced by the grade and high school pupils of the public schools of Minneapolis.

This collection is the work of pupils during the last school year and includes drawing and painting and handicraft. The walls are a colorful display of illustration work, object drawing, lettering, posters, flower sketching, cover designs, color harmony study, decorative designs, book art, perspective, batik work, stenciling and gift cards.

The art instruction in Minneapolis is directed by Miss Bess Eleanor Foster, who has achieved a national reputation for securing a unified and progressive result with her course of art instruction.

The collection is grouped in grade groups showing the progress of certain subjects throughout the twelve years of the public school course. The same can be done with almost every subject. The application direction of the art work has not been forgotten and well arranged booklet covers, beautiful gesso relief panels, decorated textiles, and cut paper tiles and panels accompany the mounted drawings.

The collection has been shown in Milwaukee, Chicago, Memphis, and other cities. Art directors have pronounced it a more coherent and adaptable exhibition to American needs than the Cizek exhibition.

The course of Minneapolis has proven so successful that school superintendents of several cities have asked for detailed outlines of the courses. Text books based on the Minneapolis art projects are being prepared for public school adoption.

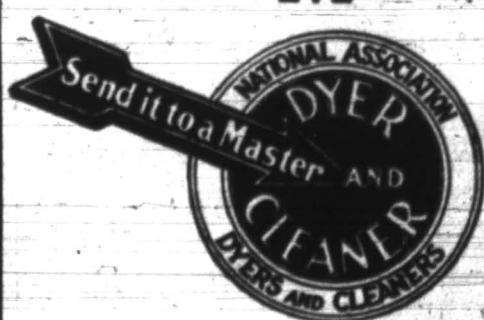

This exhibition will remain until February 1st, from ten until five o'clock. No admission is charged. The public is invited.

MARRIED HERE

Miss Grace Busche, 30, and Mr. Edward A. Woodside, 26, of Oakland, were married in Carmel Church last Saturday morning by Pastor F. W. Sheldon.

The wedding party consisted of three automobile parties, which motored from Oakland especially for the wedding. After the ceremony the party had breakfast in Salinas and the bride and groom took the afternoon train for a honeymoon at the Grand Canyon. The groom is a native of Ireland and the bride of Missouri. Witnesses to the ceremony were F. C. Busche of Oakland, and Mrs. Ella B. Hemphill of New York City.

The high-wave reception range of the Grebe dial (B)—from 350 down to 240 meters—equals the practical tuning range of the usual receiver. The low-wave range of the Grebe dial (A) provides additional reception down to 150 meters.

You Don't Need Two Radio Receivers

OVER 100 existing stations, with worth-while programs, are beyond the reach of the average receiver because it cannot tune below 240 meters.

Thus, to get both high and low-wave stations requires two receivers—unless you own a Synchrophase. Due to its Low-Wave Extension Circuits—exclusively Grebe—it will receive all stations from 350 down to 150 meters. One dial covers this complete range.

Ask for a demonstration of this and the other recent Grebe developments; then compare.

THIRD CURRENT REVIEW TALK

A distinguished gathering of book-lovers was on hand at Pine Inn last Wednesday to hear Miss Aline Barrett Greenwood in the third of her series of Current Reviews, given under the auspices of the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts, and under the direct management of Miss Alice Seckels.

The books reviewed were: "An American Tragedy," by Theodore Dreiser; "Thunder on the Left," by Christopher Morley; "The Elder Sister," by Frank Swinnerton; "The Map that is Half Unrolled," by E. Alexander Powell; "Calvin Coolidge, the Man Who is President," by William Allan White.

The next lecture takes place on Saturday, February 13.

WET NIGHT READING

The fourth book in the series of detective stories by Perry Newberry and Alice MacGowan is off the press, announces Stokes, the publisher. The story features Jerry Boyne, veteran San Francisco gum-shoe man.

The title of this latest book is "The Seventh Passenger." The other three were called: "The Million-Dollar Suitcase," "The Mystery Woman," and "Shaken Down."

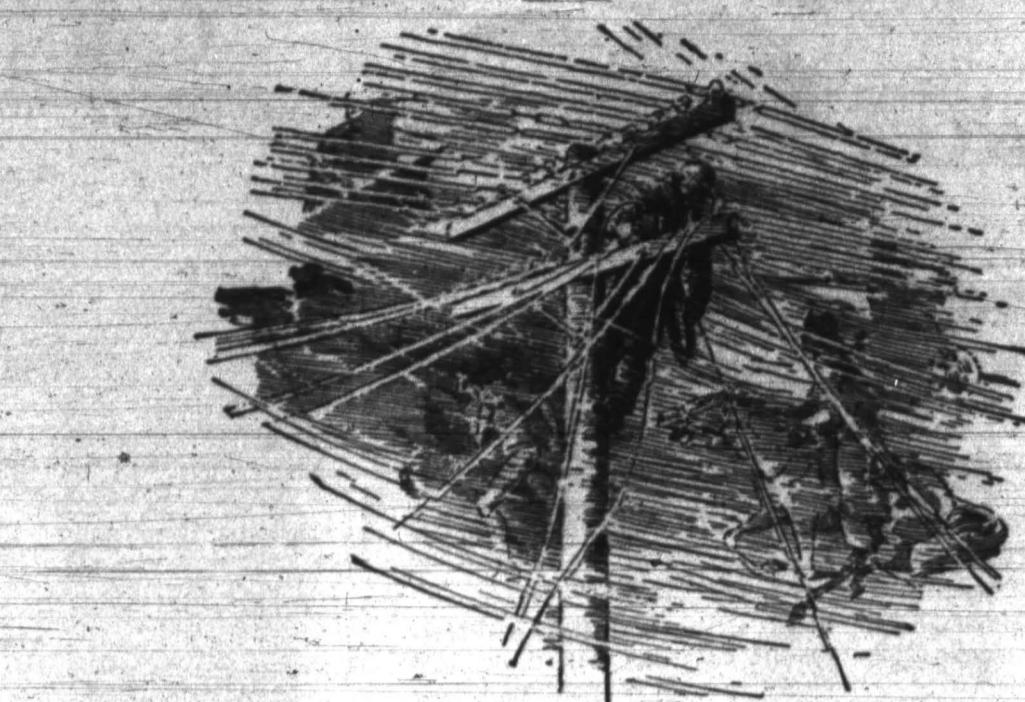

The book comes just in time. February is going to be a rainy month. What better than to stay home evenings and follow the fortunes and misfortunes of Jerry Boyne?

CARMEL BOY WINS TRIBUNE PRIZE FOR BEST STORY

In the recent contest held by the Oakland Tribune, which offered a prize for the best continued mystery story by any boy or girl under sixteen, the second prize was won by a Carmel boy, Billy Argo. His story will appear in the Tribune at an early date.

Billy was one of the first editors of the "Wee Acorn," the paper published by the pupils of Forest Hill School. Although not yet in his teens, he has written many stories, appearing in "Wee Acorn," that would do credit to a much older person. He is to be congratulated on his latest achievement.

The Telephone's Inheritance

IN its material equipment the telephone was born poor. The art of telephony inherited little from older branches of the art of communications that could help its technical progress toward its destiny of usefulness. There was a spiritual heritage, however, for the telephone worker was heir to the tradition that had grown with the years among those who undertook to transmit or transport the words of men.

The message must go through!
Greek runner, Roman courier, King's messenger, and Pony Express rider, sped to their distant goals self-urged by a consciousness that human need was being served. At the switchboard or telegraph key, in the mail car or airplane, the manifestation of this urge is ever present.

Telephone service by its very nature inherits this Spirit of Communication. For the men and women who comprise the organization that is today responsible for the delivery of 50,000,000 messages a day, it is the endowment with which their service began.

Mrs. Edward Colburn, a teacher in the local public school, has been granted a leave of absence. Miss Mary Christmas is taking her place.

Mrs. Jessie Whyte, sister of Mrs. Paul Flanders, was a guest at Outland this week. On Monday evening the cast of "The Bad Man" was entertained after rehearsals.

Rev. Frederick W. Clampett and wife were here for a few days this week, guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Young. Dr. Clampett is an editorial writer for the Hearst papers.

Edward G. Kuster and wife visited in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles this week. They are now preparing for rehearsals of "Dulcey" to be given shortly in the Golden Bough.

Letters received recently announce that Mrs. Lily Hanson and her sisters, Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Rose DeYoe were in Monte Carlo, from whence they will go to Italy. They are all in good health.

Many citizens called at the Pine Cone office this week to get their names on the Great Register. All previous registrations have lapsed. Everyone must register. There will be about 800 names in the four precincts in and about Carmel.

The annual meeting of St. Anne's Guild, auxiliary of Carmel All Saints Church, took place last Tuesday afternoon. Officers for 1926 were elected as follows: President, Mrs. E. T. Taylor; vice president, Mrs. John B. Dennis; secretary, Mrs. George Wood; treasurer, Mrs. W. L. Overstreet.

Mrs. Lucy Mayotta Hoffman, well-known in this city, where she sojourned several times a year for the past fifteen years, died in her home in Oakland on January 8. She was the mother of George J., Ross B., Karl F., and John D. Hoffmann. Deceased was a native of Washington, D. C., where she was born in 1849. She had been a resident of California many years.

Fifteen members of the Carmel Masonic Club, gathered in their new quarters on Lincoln street last Tuesday evening to partake of a chicken dinner. They say it was some dinner. Guess it was, because Bill Titmas supplied the chickens and Mrs. Shirley Watson prepared 'em. After the dinner an auction sale of excess furnishings in the club house was held. About $100 was realized.
